

Witness

Held and affirmed by he
who holds dear the she
a man unknown to me
seeks with questioning heart
how can I be
present to the whole

You I do not know
yet you offer me a mirror
and bring my inner he/she
alive
my head against your chest
we breathe
and come to know
the spaciousness between
we and me
thou and thee
you imbued with Grace
this space allows
all to flow

The man in me
holds tenderly
the growth of she
and we and they

Others too sing their truths
with amazing grace
quilting loves and lives
through telling dreams
and tiles on a screen
we witness and
we cry
as we are held

Surrender to unknowing
awake
allow the flowing
of they and them
as he and she
weave together
me and
we

Witness life arising
every moment
every breath
witness light arriving
shinning on all shades
though lids may be closed
may eyes see clear
black and tan
brown and white
vermillion
chartreuse
rose
maroon

Breathe in color
dare
to rise and hold
all
dear
as Spirit guides
us toward
the Light
we witness and
we cry
as we are held

I see you
feel you
hear and
sense you
seeing all of me

Blessed be

March 7, 2021 Jane Blount