

We feel led to learn better how to pull away the veils that hide the Seed that God sows in our hearts, the veils of our daily worries, of our selfish wants, of our self-recriminations, of our wildest dreams, the countless veils that hide the Seed and Light of Truth. And when we ask whether we will choose to help each other in this work, we have learned to answer, "I hope so."

Lifting the Veil

Although we did feel Spirit working through us frequently during our time together, we also found ourselves stumbling over details in our business. We struggle to learn ways to speak truth with love, to navigate between the errors of undue harshness and dishonest niceness.
